

The Mahdi and Jewish Messiah role in the End Times.

Explaining the Muslim migrant invasion of the western countries and especially the UK-

The Mahdi

Most Sunni theologies believe the Mahdi is the primary Messiah of the Muslim faith and will be descended from Muhammad and bear his name. The Sunni Mahdi will be a beloved and wise leader destined to rule an Islamic world kingdom as a descendant of Muhammad.

In Shia Muslim tradition, the Mahdi has a more prominent place, and the role of Jesus is lessened or nonexistent. The largest Shia sect believes the Mahdi is the last in a line of twelve holy imams descended from the first imam, Ali. He is said to have been taken away by Allah and hidden. The Shia believe this twelfth imam has been alive since the ninth century and will make his appearance as the Mahdi at the appointed time.

The Mahdi will lead a global revolution, uniting both Muslims and non-Muslims under the banner of Islam to form a great caliphate, or Muslim religious kingdom. In some traditions, the Mahdi will ride at the head of an army and defeat al-Dajjāl, beginning a rule that will last from seven to nine years.

In other versions of the story, as the Mahdi unites the world under Islam, the prophet Jesus—referred to as Isa in Islam—returns to earth in Damascus. He arrives borne on the wings of angels and carrying a great spear. Some stories say that upon Jesus's return, al-Dajjāl (a figure of antichrist) will crumble like salt in water; in others, Jesus will battle al-Dajjāl and kill him. Afterward, Jesus travels to Jerusalem to meet the Mahdi, who humbly offers him the right to lead the congregation in prayer. Jesus refuses and defers to the Mahdi, a symbolic submission to the superiority of the Islamic faith.

The roles of Jesus and the Mahdi are combined in some variations and separated in others. In some, Jesus abolishes Christianity and converts the world to Islam. He serves as its ruler for forty-five years before dying. According to Muslim belief, neither Jesus nor the Mahdi is a spiritual being. They are human messengers of Allah who will live a normal life span and eventually die. After a varying period of Islamic rule, Allah will commence his final judgment and destroy the universe.

The Jew Messiah

The Talmud states that the leader of the world Jewish takeover would be a King, meaning that should a male Jew ascend to the throne such a King would then himself not only be the senior Elder of Zion but also the long awaited Messiah; The King of the Jews. As there are no remnants of the ancient Jewish royalty, and in order to fulfil the prophesy, Jewish royalty must be re-established, and it appears from this evidence that the current British Royal family has become the vehicle of choice.»

The Prophet Muhammad Claim

Certain genealogical guides suggest the British monarchy descends from the Prophet Muhammad. The Path: This theory is usually traced through Zaida of Seville, an 11th-century Muslim princess who fled to the Christian court of King Alfonso VI of Castile. Zaida's son married into the Castilian nobility, whose descendants eventually married into the British Royal Family in the 14th century. The Historical Consensus: Professional genealogists and historians classify this link as "plausible" at best, but largely unsupported by verifiable primary documents due to the mysteries surrounding Zaida's exact ancestry.

Not one of the Royal Houses in Europe is from the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel, probably nor from the tribe of Judah. There was a coup d'état, and Edomites and khazars took the power, by killings, lies and deceptions. «You shall know them by their fruits», like Herod was an Edomite. They have roots to the Jews in the time of Jesus. Caiphas, Barrabas, Herod. Jude. The Edomites. Sons of Esau. Those who God hates (Malachi 1:3, Romans 9:13). Because they are barbarians. Egosentric. Will never be better.

But there are claims that English monarchs are from Jewish descent, namely the 10 lost tribes of Israel and also from the Tribe of Judah and Dan, through Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

So Charles can present himself as King David descendent as well from all other 12 tribes and stand up to meet both roles: the Jewish Messiah and Muslim Mahdi.

Yet, real Lost Tribes of Israel (white european people), where hijacked by Khazars, Edomites and askenazis, and by The Crown who pretend they are British Israelites, Rothschilds et al. May Cromwell still burn in Hell for beeing paid to allow them back into England, and able to do this infiltration and identity theft. 'Jews' are Khazars, Edomites and askenazis, not Israelites, nor from tribe of Judah. Imposters.

So there is a plan to present Charles or maybe William (but Charles is the only 666 on the family – see image bellow) to fulfill both roles to the Jews and to Muslims and Christian are to disappear, beheaded, or to worship Allah instead and Charles as Allah's representative on Earth.
